Science: Fascinating Fossils

Mary Anning was a palaeontologist who has helped shape our understanding of fossils. Pretend that you are Mary Anning and that you have found a new species. Draw or make the fossil that belongs to this new species and write a description about what it is and where it lived. Or write a fact file about Mary Anning.

Geography: Violent Volcanoes

Make a model of a volcano. This can be a volcano that has been extinct or an existing one. Make sure you include some facts about your volcano e.g. which country was it or is it in? Is it active or not? Do people live around it or is it isolated? How dangerous was or is the volcano?

English: Adventures of Odysseus

Create a piece of artwork that represents one of Odysseus' adventures. You could do this as a drawing/sketch, painting, collage, print or a 3D model. Be creative, you can use junk modelling if you wish.
