

Parent Governor Vacancy

Are you interested in contributing to the success and direction of the school?

There is currently a Parent Governor vacancy on the school's Governing Body. This is an extremely important role in the leadership of the school and a very interesting and rewarding opportunity for the right person.

What does the Governing Body do?

- Ensures clarity of vision, ethos and strategic direction;
- Supports and challenges the school's work and educational performance;
- Oversees the financial performance of the school and making sure its money is well spent.

What does being a Governor involve?

- Getting to know the school, its needs, strengths and areas for development;
- Monitoring and evaluating the work of the school;
- Attending meetings (full governing body, committees and working groups);
- Speaking, acting and voting in the best interests of the school.

Being a school governor is a voluntary role and governors are not expected to be involved in the detail of the day-to-day management of the school. However, it is a very important role which requires a commitment of time and active participation.
